

09/02/2015

Press Review

FFF Economy

International Business Times

Greenspan Warns Of Greece Euro Exit, Eurozone Collapse

Greece's exit from the eurozone is inevitable, Alan Greenspan, a former chairman of the U.S. Federal Reserve, said in an interview with BBC News Sunday.

Trading Floor

EU Foreign Ministers Delay Russia Sanctions

European Union foreign ministers, citing momentum behind a new peace initiative, on Monday delayed for a week the implementation of sanctions against a new group of individuals and companies in Russia and eastern...

>>> Currencies

RTT News

NZ Dollar Strengthens Against Most Majors

The New Zealand dollar firmed against its most major rivals during European deals on Monday.

FX Times

Yen Benefits From Safe-Haven Demand

The yen edged against the dollar and euro on Monday, as investors turned to risk-off mode to hedge against ongoing volatility in Ukraine and political tensions surrounding Greece's bailout plan.

Image: Second S

CNBC

Lew: Like to see more global growth

Treasury Secretary Jack Lew shares his thoughts about the ongoing port problems on the West Coast, the strong U.S. dollar and "weak spots" in global economies.

Bloomberg

Why Now May Be a Good Time to Buy the Euro

Todd Horwitz, founder at Averagejoeoptions.com, and Bloomberg's Scarlet Fu discuss the trade in the euro and other currencies on today's...

Politics

Business Insider

Republicans don't really care about inequality

The Republican Party appears to accept that poverty and the inequities of wealth and political power that have prevailed over the last 15 years are issues it can no longer ignore.

WBP Online

EU Juncker: Europe Won't Nod to All Greek Demands

The EU won't accept all the promises Greek PM Alexis Tsipras made to his voters, European Commission President Jean-Claude Juncker said Monday.

Image: Second S

FX Street

OPEC cuts non-OPEC oil supply forecast

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) lowered its estimate for non-OPEC supply growth in 2015 as US drillers are expected to pump less oil after the collapse in oil price.

Market Watch

Gold edges higher on Greek turmoil

Gold prices edged higher Monday, finding some modest support as Greece heads for a showdown with its eurozone partners and China posted weakerthan-expected trade data but any haven-related boost was limited in the...

Delta

Anna Coulling

Gold Outlook Remains Bearish For Investors, Less So For Traders

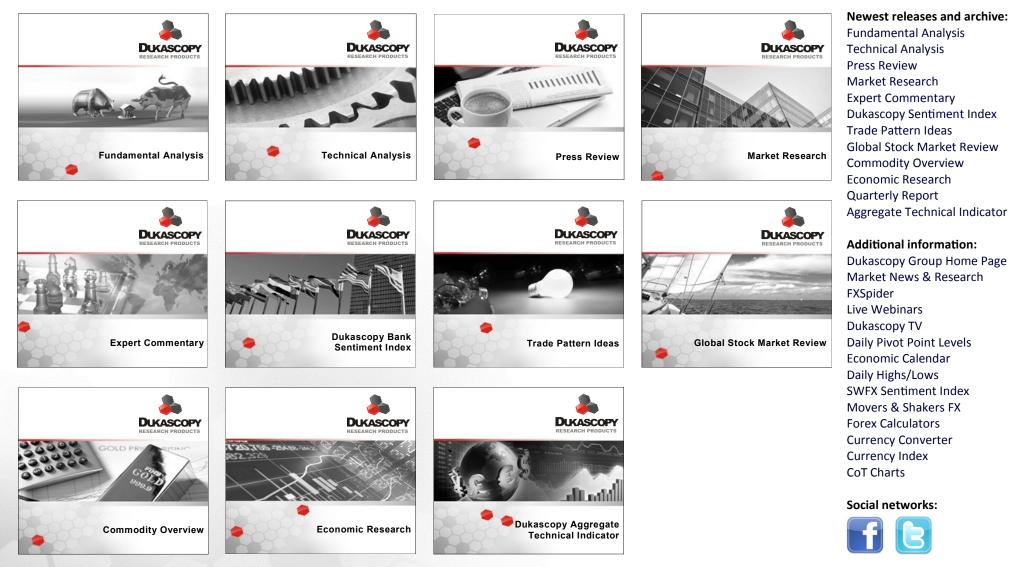

Regular readers of my market analysis will know that I have been bearish on gold for some time, and despite the recent bullish trend which has seen gold move from the lows of $1170 per ounce to the high of late January at $1310 per ounce, have remained so.

Aki Peritz

Life is harsh under Islamic State. But what's the alternative?

The quality of life is in free fall throughout the Iraqi and Syrian regions that Islamic State controls, according to a recent Washington Post article.

Disclaimer

Everything in this article, including opinions and figures, is provided for informational purposes only and may not be interpreted as financial advice or solicitation of products. Dukascopy group assume no responsibility for the completeness or the accuracy of any data contained in this article. Financial figures indicated in this article have not been verified by the Dukascopy group. Views, opinions and analyses are those of the author of the article, and are not endorsed by the Dukascopy group.

Dukascopy group waive any and all warranties, express or implied, regarding, but without limitation to, warranties of the merchantability or the fitness for a particular purpose, with respect to all information in this article. Dukascopy group shall under no circumstances be responsible for any direct, indirect, consequential, contingent or any other damages sustained in connection with the use of this article.