

19/07/2016

Press Review

07:30 GMT, Tuesday, July 19, 2016

FFF Economy

WBP Online

RBA Awaits New Data Before Making Policy Adjustment; AUD Dives

Minutes from the RBA's July policy meeting signaled that an August rate cut could be coming, but that staff would be providing updated economic forecasts before the next SoMP to help assess whether further easing was necessary.

Market Watch

No U.S. rate hike until 2018 — and it's the consumer to blame, Morgan Stanley says

Don't look for a rise in U.S. interest rates until 2018, Morgan Stanley strategists said on Monday as they released their latest outlook.

Currencies

The Business Times

US dollar slips vs yen on profit-taking; kiwi tumbles

The dollar sagged against the yen on Tuesday as investors took profit after its recent rally, while the kiwi was dented by bets New Zealand's central bank could cut interest rates next month.

RTT News

Commodity Currencies Fall As Oil Prices Slide

Commodity currencies such as the Australian, the New Zealand and the Canadian dollars weakened against the other major currencies in the Asian session on Tuesday, as crude oil prices fell amid persistent oversupply worries.

Image: Top Videos

CNBC

We will win the referendum: Italy's foreign affairs minister

Paolo Gentiloni, Italy's minister of foreign affairs, discusses the U.K.'s Brexit deal and the upcoming referendum on constitutional reform in Italy.

Bloomberg

Central Bank Cuts? That Would be Unwise, Says French

Just like Mark Carney, Mario Draghi can afford to wait a bit before adding more monetary stimulus. Economists in a Bloomberg survey predict the European Central Bank president will keep policy unchanged on Thursday but announce fresh measures before the end of the year.

>>> Politics

Reuters

North Korea fires three ballistic missiles in show of force

North Korea fired three ballistic missiles early on Tuesday which flew between 500 and 600 kms (300 and 360 miles) into the sea off its east coast, South Korea's military said, the latest in a series of provocative moves by...

The Japan Times

Britain's new prime minister urges Parliament to vote to renew nuclear sub fleet, keep deterrence

British lawmakers voted Monday to replace the country's aging fleet of nuclear-armed submarines with new vessels, heeding Prime Minister Theresa May's warning that relinquishing atomic weapons would be a...

►►► Markets

NDTV

Gold Falls On Revived Risk Appetite After Failed Turkey Coup

Gold fell as much as one per cent on Monday as Wall Street hovered near record highs and investor jitters calmed following a failed coup attempt in Turkey.

Business Insider

Asian shares tread cautiously, crude oil slips

Asian shares edged slightly lower in early Asian trade on Tuesday, as a downturn in crude oil curbed the enthusiasm from fresh record highs on Wall Street.

Delta

Vernon Bogdanor

There could still be a second referendum in Britain – if EU leaders listen

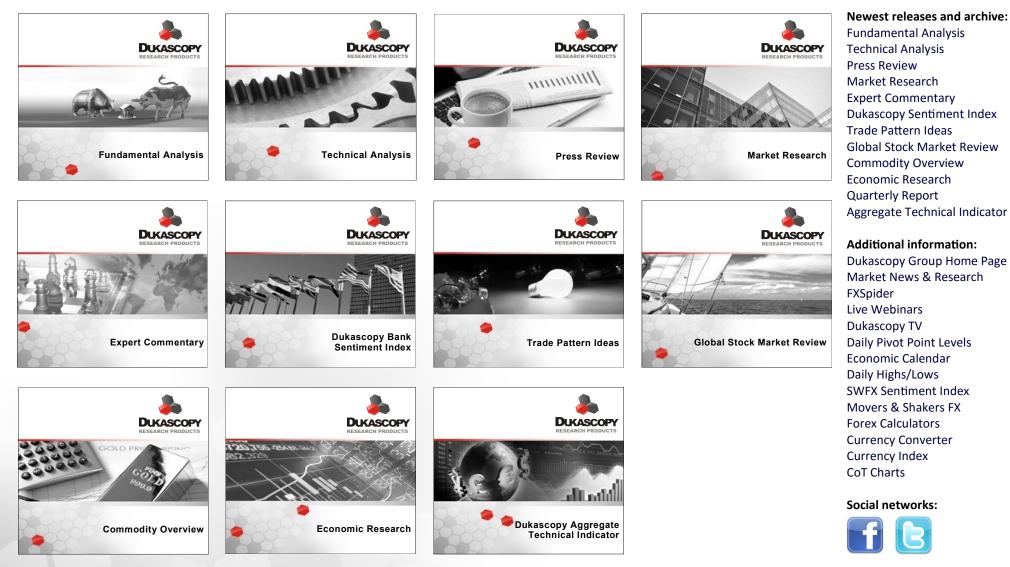

A change to free movement could persuade the British public to vote again. And it can be done: treaties that stand in the way of reality have been changed before.

Marc Chandler

Can The EU Use Article 7 To Force Article 50?

Due to an unlikely string of events, the UK had sorted out its government more than two months quicker than it had looked likely in the immediate aftermath of the referendum when Cameron resigned.

Disclaimer

Everything in this article, including opinions and figures, is provided for informational purposes only and may not be interpreted as financial advice or solicitation of products. Dukascopy group assume no responsibility for the completeness or the accuracy of any data contained in this article. Financial figures indicated in this article have not been verified by the Dukascopy group. Views, opinions and analyses are those of the author of the article, and are not endorsed by the Dukascopy group.

Dukascopy group waive any and all warranties, express or implied, regarding, but without limitation to, warranties of the merchantability or the fitness for a particular purpose, with respect to all information in this article. Dukascopy group shall under no circumstances be responsible for any direct, indirect, consequential, contingent or any other damages sustained in connection with the use of this article.